Citizens Beware - Male caller falsely claims to be raising funds for the Delta Police Department

In the past two weeks the Delta Police have responded to two separate reports of a male conducting phone solicitation posing as fundraiser collecting money for the Delta Police. During the phone conversation the male asks the citizen for their credit card number as a means of contributing.

The Delta Police do not participate in any such fund raising effort and we do not solicit money to fund the organization in this manner.

The Delta Police are reminding the general public not to provide personal information over the phone and should you wish to contribute to any charity organization utilize secure means to do so.
