New Release Highlighting Compliments for Cst. Goossen from a Senior Police Officer whose daughter's bike was stolen

Speaking of bikes!

#NoCallTooSmall

Yes, our officers really do go the extra mile. But it's always nice to hear that confirmation from the community, particularly when the resident is a senior police officer herself (with another agency).

Last week this senior police officer (with another agency) called in, to report her teen's bike stolen from the backyard of her Ladner home. The woman had taken the precaution of registering the bike with Garage 529, and flagged the bike as stolen on the app.

Later that same day she was notified by a Garage 529 user that the bicycle was advertised for sale for $300 on a Surrey Facebook Marketplace. The woman immediately notified Constable Goosen, who was working on the investigation.

Cst. Goosen confirmed that he would track down the would-be-seller, and attempt to get the bike back. Last night the senior police officer (with another agency) opened her front door to find Cst. Goosen and the recovered bike outside her home. As it turned out, he and other officers had not only retrieved her bike, they had located another stolen bike as well.

"I have been a police officer for almost 24 years and I am extremely impressed with the service I received from Cst. Goossen and how much work was put in this investigation. In the grand scheme of things, this was a minor theft. I have investigated many similar incidents in my years of service and it is easy to lose sight of the impact even a minor theft can have," she wrote in an email to the DPD. "Cst. Goossen was very caring and understanding. The response I received from your department was outstanding."

Today, as it so happens, we're promoting Garage 529 and bike safety on our social channels. You can sign up for the list to be registered for Garage 529 by emailing 529@deltapolice.ca

Thank you for taking the issue seriously, and making us aware of what is happening in the community. The internet has most certainly played a part in people feeling supported in hate filled ideologies. Unfortunately, it is spilling out into the real world more and more. Thank you for taking a stand.

Attached is our Agenda of items discussed.

Police officer morale is exceptionally low. Minister agreed that we need to show and demonstrate how and what police officers are doing. We need to collect evidence-based material of what police officers are doing in the community and have an evidence-based response to the public.

The Minister advised that there is always room for improvement and trying to improve by revising the Police Act. There is a real opportunity to make changes and to have a Police Act that accommodates the changes needed.

Mental health is a priority. Ongoing discussions are being held with the Minister of Health. Also, the need to prioritize police officers receiving the COVID 19 vaccine and that the process needs to be sped up is being addressed.

Prior to meeting, we received a letter from the Minister in response to our resolutions which addressed this agenda item.

Minister agreed that the Ministry and Police Boards need to find ways to bring awareness to Diversity on police boards, for public and members to understand that Board Members have important skill sets and that is why they are on the Board. Perhaps a discussion could be held to see if this could be addressed through the Police Act. This could also be addressed at a provincial level.

The Special Committee on Police Reform will likely not produce its final report until April, 2022 however, they may release interim recommendations.

Minister advised he will include BCAPB in discussions around a possible Police College.

Minister believes, in certain circumstances, extending board appointments beyond 6 years may be beneficial. He is happy to take a serious look at this issue.

Our concerns are the same concerns the Minister has - Justice Institute Police Academy funding, recruitment, mental health issues both in the community and among police personnel.

The Minister indicated his agreement that provincial ministries should come together to deal with mental health and addictions issues. The importance of this is fully understood. There needs to be a cross government approach in dealing with these issues.

The Minister agreed that there needs to be changes and alternatives to the current requirement that police officers remain at the hospital when bringing in persons with mental health issues.

Ministry is happy to work with our Association on these issues.

“Police Boards are critical in where we are going with modernizing the Police Act.”

Email: bcapbs@gmail.com

Dear Charla Huber:

Thank you for your letter dated March 19, 2021, in which you outline the British Columbia Association of Police Board's (BCAPB) approved resolutions from its March 6, 2021 Annual General Meeting. As Minister of Public Safety and Solicitor General for British Columbia, I am pleased to respond to each resolution.

At the outset, I wish to advise that under the Police Act (BC), it is my responsibility as Minister to ensure that an adequate and effective level of policing and law enforcement is maintained throughout British Columbia. Further, I wish to confirm that each provided resolution represents an area of priority for the Province.

Amendments to Motor Vehicle Act (MVA) Regulations

I am pleased to advise you that the BC Ministry of Transportation and Infrastructure will respond to this resolution directly.

Increased JIBC Funding

The Ministry of Public Safety and Solicitor General (PSSG) and the Ministry of Advanced Education, and Skills Training are supporting the JIBC in discussions over budget issues for the 2021/22 fiscal year and continue to encourage the JIBC to collaborate with police stakeholders such as the BC Association of Municipal Chiefs of Police (BCAMCP) and BCAPB to develop a sustainable business and funding model for the long-term.

As you know, the JIBC is primarily funded through an annual provincial grant and recruit tuition. Part of this work will include the JIBC considering a rational tuition schedule that can be effectively communicated and considered in the annual municipal budget cycle.

Charla Huber

Page 2

PSSG and AEST also engaged an external consultant to conduct an independent financial review of all delegation funded activities undertaken by the JIBC Police Academy in the last ten years. We look forward to sharing the results of this analysis with the BCAPB and BCAMCP to help inform discussions about future funding models for the JIBC PA.

Increased Fines and Impounding Under MVA

In response to the third resolution which recommends to increase fines for failing to stop for police under Section 73(1) of the Motor Vehicle Act and to amend Section 251 of the Motor Vehicle Act to include vehicle impoundment for drivers and registered owners that commit the offence of failing to stop for police, I can assure you that one of the provincial government's primary objectives is to promote a high level of safety for all road users on British Columbia's roads and highways, including law enforcement. RoadSafetyBC is interested in factors contributing to risks to the public and officer safety and will determine if there are opportunities to explore potential legislative amendments with respect to failing to stop for police.

However, you may be interested to learn that the Firearms Violence Prevention Act (FVPA), which received Royal Assent on March 25, 2021 but is not yet in force, will include a new discretionary power for peace officers to impound vehicles that have contravened s. 320.17 of the Criminal Code. Section 320.17 of the Criminal Code is the offence section for flight from police, which is a serious risk to public safety.

Under the FVPA, the intention is to impound vehicles that have been used to flee from police for 30 days and require owners of those vehicles to pay the impoundment fee before the vehicle will be released.

Amendments to Metal Dealers and Recycler Act

PSSG is aware of an increase in theft of catalytic converters, in particular. Police agencies are targeting prolific offenders and others in an effort to deal with these thefts. As with all policing and public safety matters, the ministry will continue to liaise with police and other relevant stakeholders to assess the responsiveness of current legislative, enforcement and program tools to deal with emerging criminal trends.

Amendments to Firearm Act

The recently passed Firearm Violence Prevention Act (FVPA), which will come into force in the spring of 2022, includes a new prohibition on the possession of firearms, low-velocity firearms, and imitation firearms on designated properties. The designated properties are child-care properties, schools, post-secondary institutions, hospitals, court houses, and places of worship. New types of designated properties where firearms, imitation firearms, and low-velocity firearms will be prohibited may be identified, subject to further consultation with stakeholders, and added to the regulations under the FVPA.

The FVPA creates offences for minors and youth who misuse imitation and low-velocity firearms and adds a new offence for causing a public disturbance with a low-velocity firearm or imitation firearm. This addresses the high-risk scenarios where police respond to “man with a gun” calls, not knowing if the firearm is real or an imitation.

Police will have the authority to seize imitation or low-velocity firearms that are possessed in contravention of the FVPA and issue violation tickets.

In closing, I would like to thank you again for bringing these resolutions to my attention. I believe that through open communication and dialogue between the BCAPB and the ministry, we will continue to strengthen police governance in British Columbia. I look forward to meeting with members of the BCAPB Executive Committee on April 26, 2021.

Sincerely,

Dear Chair Routley,

Re: Special Committee on Reforming the Police Act – City of Delta Submission

The work of the Special Committee on Reforming the Police Act is extremely important. We look forward to the recommendations of the Special Committee on its four areas of focus, each of which offer the potential for substantial improvements in public safety for our community. On behalf of Delta Council, please accept this letter as the City of Delta's submission to be considered in your deliberations.

First, we want to confirm our support for both the Delta Police Department and the Union of British Columbia Municipalities (UBCM) submissions to the Special Committee. Related to key items being raised by the Delta Police Department, we especially want to echo the need for support related to training capacity and coordination, enhancing police relations with our diverse community, and issues related to mental health and the nexus with policing.

UBCM's theme-based approach effectively addresses key issues facing local governments, including enhanced integration in public safety service delivery, preventative and proactive investments, public trust, appropriately resourced and defined public safety responsibilities, and ongoing communication and coordination between orders of government. Because UBCM has made effective arguments in these areas, we will not belabour the points further. UBCM's submission also touches on the issue of governance and local elected representation on police boards, which is the focus of our submission to the Special Committee.

Currently, local governments with municipal police departments are very restricted in their ability to effectively manage their portion of the primary role of police boards – providing civilian oversight to police departments. As UBCM notes in its submission, the Province should consider additional options to improve local-level accountability. Improving accountability is necessary due to a lack of elected representation on the police board – currently, Council appoints one person and the Mayor serves as Chair of the police board.

In this role, the Chair functions essentially as a figurehead with largely administrative duties to ensure the board operates smoothly, but without the ability to vote (except in a tie), raise motions, or participate in debate. The Chair must also not take independent action without the consensus of board members. As the sole elected representative on the police board, the result of these restrictions on the Chair is an unnecessary limitation on the overall perceived accountability of the police board.

Accountability and transparency are fundamental to public confidence in government institutions. Elected representatives are accountable to the community through the electoral process, but with the current police board structure, such accountability and transparency is lacking. We recognize the need to limit the potential for political interference in policing operations, but still believe there is room for improvement to enhance the overall governance of municipal police departments provide the public with greater confidence in the system, and better reflect the diversity of the communities being served.

To address the existing shortcomings related to elected representation on municipal police boards, we propose a simple solution for consideration by the Special Committee: reduce the limits on the police board Chair by affording this position the same rights as other board members, including the ability to raise motions, vote on all motions, and debate issues at the board table. This small, but impactful adjustment in police board governance would improve oversight, while limiting the potential for political interference in operational matters.

In addition to accountability and transparency challenges with the current structure of police boards, the system provides limited ability to ensure that the diversity of the community is reflected on the police board. Changes to the governance structure should be considered to ensure that a community's diversity in race, age, and other key factors are appropriately reflected on the police board. To address these diversity issues, we are seeking consideration of a new appointment methodology that provides local governments with the opportunity to be more directly involved to support diversity on police boards.

We appreciate the opportunity to make a submission to the Special Committee on Reforming the Police Act. As you review the evidence and consider recommendations to modernize the Act, we know there are many important issues and areas that deserve attention. As part of your assessment of potential reforms related to the independent oversight, transparency, governance, structure, service delivery, standards, funding, training, and education portion of your mandate, we encourage you to consider our proposal to improve police board governance.

Yours truly,

George V. Harvie

Hello Veronica,

The Honourable Justice Michel Bastarache will be speaking to the Surrey Police Board on May 19, 2021 at noon for one hour. Justice Bastarache authored a report on the issue in the RCMP; the focus of his presentation to the Board is in relation to preventing and eliminating sexual harassment in our organization. He will speak in generalities related to policing.

We would like to invite any BCAPB members and their chiefs to attend the meeting.

All interested Board members and municipal chiefs can email Marion Chow to be added into the Teams meeting.

Would you mind disseminating this through the BCAPB?

Thank you,

Mel

MEMO TO DELTA POLICE BOARD

Regular Meeting

From: Neil Dubord, OOM, AdeC
Date: May 13, 2021
Subject: Delta Police School Liaison Officer (SLO) Program

In recent weeks, the Vancouver and New Westminster School Boards have decided to cancel their police-based School Liaison Officer (SLO) Programs. Instead, they are considering alternative school safety and student support approaches. This has generated discussion around the status and impacts of the Delta Police Department (DPD)'s SLO Program.

In discussion with the DPD Executive Management Team, the Delta School Administrators have expressed overwhelming and continued support for the 50-year-old Delta Police SLO Program. In addition, Delta School Administrators have not heard any complaints from Parent Advisory Committees, School Trustees, Administration, teachers, or students.

The DPD SLO Program is unique and different from other jurisdictions; it supports officers to remain in the SLO position for longer-term assignments, establishing stable and longstanding relationships and partnerships with the Delta School District's students and staff. A recent joint press release acknowledges the vital collaboration between the DPD and Delta School District (Attachment A).

The SLO Program's primary goal is to create a safe learning environment in Delta schools. This is accomplished through:

- the SLOs' presence and visibility in the schools, and
- by contributing to developing resiliency in the students through delivering various crime prevention and social responsibility programs.

See Attachment B for the DPD SLO Program Delivery Model, separated into four phases as students move through their school years.

The SLO Program also integrates into the overall DPD Youth Strategy, which aims to stabilize at-risk and high-risk youth by establishing positive connections with Police, Schools, counsellors, and mentors. The DPD Youth Strategy utilizes a trauma-informed lens to provide support; the criminal justice system is to be used as an absolute last resort.

The DPD is committed to working in collaboration with Delta School District to:

- participate in dialogue to inform and clarify the role and purpose of the SLO Program, and
- continue evolving the SLO Program's service delivery model to meet the needs of students, staff, and the community.

Delta School District, Police comment on liaison program

about 17 hours ago By: Sandor Gyarmati

The goal of the Delta program has been to create safe learning environments in local schools. | Sandor Gyarmati/Delta Optimist

The Delta School District and Delta Police are committed to continuing to look for opportunities to ensure the school liaison program delivers the most relevant and appropriate student engagement.

That's what both organizations noted in a statement to the Optimist following recent news that the school boards in New Westminster and Vancouver decided to remove police officers from schools.

The Vancouver district, in late April, became the first in B.C. to end its program, phasing out uniformed police officers from schools by the end of June.

New Westminster's board quickly followed, immediately ending the district's Child and Youth Liaison Officer Program due to concerns that armed officers could be disturbing to racialized or LGBTQ youth.

The Delta district has been working closely with the Delta Police to ensure all local schools have a designated school liaison officer.

According to the district, officers also work in partnership with school administrators and outside agencies including ICBC, parent advisory committees and Delta Youth Services to provide presentations to both youth and their parents.

Presentations that have been provided to the community in recent years include forums on drinking and driving, drugs, bullying and youth violence.

Asked if the Delta school board is also considering reviewing the future of the program, including whether any changes to what's delivered might be considered, the district and police department in a joint statement indicated the program is not in danger of being cancelled.

"The Delta School District and Delta Police Department have been following recent events in Vancouver and New Westminster with interest. Due to our collaborative working relationship and because our size allows us to be readily adaptable, we believe we are able to successfully meet the needs of our community with our School Liaison Officer (SLO) program. Throughout the 50-year history of the SLO program, our overall goal has been to create safe learning environments in our schools by forming partnerships and relationships between police, students, staff and parents," the statement reads.

"We are both are committed to continuing to look for opportunities to ensure the SLO program delivers the most relevant and appropriate student engagement programming moving forward."

On June 4, 2021, the Delta Police Board's Online Board Portal (Portal) will be going live. The Portal has been implemented to provide Board members with easier and faster access to information, improve security, and enable sharing of larger files. The annual licensing cost for the Board Portal is $199.00.

Login and usage instructions will follow next week. Board related material such as agenda packages, meeting minutes, and guidelines will be available in a centralized database for Board Members to access at their convenience. It is recommended that any downloaded material is deleted after Board meetings from any personal devices for security purposes. Printing should also be avoided whenever possible, and if the material is printed, it should be shredded after use. The material will remain on the Portal for future reference and access at all times.
